TRANSPARENT SKIRTS A SHOCK TO CHICAGO

New Dresses Conspicuous for What They Reveal Rather Than What They Conceal Alarm Moralists.

Chicago, Ill., July 22.—Transparent skirts, more conspicuous for what they reveal than what they conceal, have struck Chicago and State street, and a cry of protest and alarm has gone up from women who have the preservation of the morals of Chicago at heart.

Dr. Julia Holmes Smith said: "Why do women make caricatures of themselves?" Mrs. George Bass said: "Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop, who returned recently from a trip around the world said: "When I was in Constantinople I was anxious to see what the Turkish women of fashion wore, so I went into a shop and asked them for a gown such as would be purchased by women of the harem. There wasn't a dress to be had in that big city as bold as some I have seen on the streets here."

JAPANESE STUDENT APPEALS TO U. S. TO MAINTAIN PEACE

Chicago, Ill., July 22.—George J. Kasai, a student from Koto, Japan, who was graduated from the University of Chicago last month and whose oration "The Mastery of the Pacific" won the Julius Rosenberg prize in oratory, will be sent out by the World Peace Foundation to deliver his oration in eastern cities.

Kasai's oration dealt with the Japanese question in California and was an appeal for fairness on both sides and the continuance of peaceful relations with Japan. His tour will take him as far east as New York and will last two months.

TEXAS MOTORCYCLISTS SHIVER ON TRIP IN COLORADO

Trinidad, Colo., July 22.—Shivering in a cool mountain breeze, a party of Waco, Texas, motorcyclists left here for Denver. The party had covered 800 miles in six days without accident. Carburators, affected by an altitude of 6000 feet, delayed the motorcyclists for a time until adjustments were made.

Fifteen Year Old Daughter of Rich Pennsylvanian Climbs From Window and Flees With Suitors.

Waynesburg, Pa., July 22.—Barefooted, bareheaded, without money and scantily clad, Lena Cagle, the 15 year old daughter of Charles C. Cagle, a wealthy merchant of this city, eloped. She climbed from the window of her home shortly after midnight, and getting a big motor car, with her suitors, Franklin Hurley, disappeared.

The girl's father, with several officers, have searched in vain for the pair.

Hurley is the proprietor of a big moving picture business.

FIELDING'S WELL IS VALLEY MARVEL

Two Women at San Simon Build Residence With Own Hands and Begin Cultivating Farm Land.

San Simon, Ariz., July 22.—The flowing well of Capt. J. Fielding, brought in last week, is the marvel of the valley. At 700 feet it has irrigated, according to the captain, 20 acres of grass land already. Capt. Fielding claims the largest flow in the valley.

R. O. Marrett's well, Jess Averill, driller, has been completed, with a good flow, at 400 feet.

There are in the valley two sisters, women, who, with their own hands, have erected a comfortable residence and outhouses and have gone to farming.

C. E. Mitchell, of Alamogordo, is here inspecting the erection of the Bank building. It is to be opened August 1.

Mr. Paschall has secured a good flow two miles southwest of town, the Farmers' Cooperative company doing the drilling.

Geo. E. Silgh's rig is at present drilling on Mrs. H. Chamberlin's desert entry, two miles north of town.

The rains are abundant and are doing much good.

ARTESIA PUSHING CREAMERY PROJECT

Chamber of Commerce Urges Farmers to Devote More Attention to Dairy Products

Artesia, N. M., July 22.—The chamber of commerce here held an enthusiastic meeting to discuss the project of a creamery here. The subject has been thoroughly canvassed and it was decided that president H. J. Rand, of the chamber, should appoint a committee of three to go around among the farmers and try to get them to go to shipping cream to the Roswell creamery; also, to get more and better cows looking to the establishment of a creamery here at the earliest date practicable. E. R. Barber, one of the owners in the Roswell creamery, was at the meeting, and made some strong points for dairying in this section. He offered to take all the cream that could be produced here at Elgin prices at the creamery, less the freight or expressage.

The capacity of the Roswell creamery is being increased to 2,800 pounds per week. At present it is paying out about $1.200 per week for cream and is buying as far north as Elida, N. M. So far not more than $50 per week is coming to the section south of Roswell. Up in the dry section farther north the farmers are buying Artesia alfalfa and shipping butter to Roswell.

COLUMBUS TO GET NEW SCHOOLHOUSE

Columbus, N. M., July 22.—Workmen are clearing the site where the new school is to be erected. Bids will soon be opened for the construction of the school building. The tract is three acres, located in the north line of the township, just beyond the church.

The assessed valuation for this school district is $109,509 on which a 10 mill assessment will be made, assuring $1,095 for the school, provided there are no delinquent taxes. It is believed at this time that three teachers will be required for the next school year and therefore the levy will hardly be sufficient to pay expenses.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEN TO MEET IN TUCUMCARI

Tucumcari, N. M., July 22.—Commercial clubs of eastern New Mexico and northwest Texas will meet on August 4th for the annual meeting of the Co-operative commercial club association. Gov. W. C. McDonald will be here to deliver an address.

Quay county's fair association has been organized and application made to the county board for $500 with which to help pay the expenses of the annual county fair. The dates for the fair have not yet been decided upon, but will be announced later.

STATE ENGINEER GOES TO LOCATE NEW HIGHWAY

Phoenix, Ariz., July 22.—To decide on the location of the road work to be done with the next year's appropriation in Navajo county, and both this year's and next year's appropriations in Apache county, state engineer Lamar Cobb has gone on an automobile trip through the northern part of the state. He will return by way of Springerville and Globe.

LARGEST GRAMMAR SCHOOL IN STATE TO BE IN PHOENIX

Phoenix, Ariz., July 22.—Bids for the construction of the largest grammar school in the state have been opened here. It will be erected at Seventh and Monroe streets at a cost of approximately $175,000. There will be 20 class rooms, domestic science rooms, manual training, offices, auditorium and supply rooms.

TUCSON Y. M. C. A. TO HAVE $60,000 BUILDING

Tucson, Ariz., July 22.—Final plans for the $60,000 Y. M. C. A. building here are being drawn by Chicago architects, and the erection of the building will soon start. Its construction will be supervised by H. Jansstad, of Tucson, a local architect, many of whose ideas will be embodied in the building.
